Description:

Review "A revealing memoir of her life, police career and spiritual growth." -John L. Smith, Las Vegas Review-Journal

"A very candid and revealing look into the world of law enforcement. But most of all, it gives you a glimpse into the very heart of God." -Ben R. Peters, founder, Open Heart Ministries

About the Author Debra Gauthier served as a police officer for 21 years on the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department. Her career began in 1980 where she was the first female officer hired under the same standards as the men. She moved up the ranks and was promoted to Sergeant and later Lieutenant. She paved the way for other female officers and became the first woman sergeant on the academy staff, pioneered a new bicycle patrol on the Las Vegas Strip, and started a Missing Person's Detail in the detective bureau. In 1995 and '97, she was given Women of Achievement awards. Also in 1997, she tested for Captain and ranked #1. She was recognized as one of the Distinguished Women in Southern Nevada in 1997. A motivational speaker, she lives in Las Vegas with her rescued pets. Bright Lights, Dark Places is her first book.
